IMPORTANT NOTICE

The application for an advance ruling must contain all prescribed information and be accompanied by all required documents. It must also be accompanied by all the information required for the consideration of your application. In order to properly complete your application, please refer to the list of required documents.

If your application is incomplete, we will grant you ten days commencing on the acknowledgement of receipt date to provide all required information and documents. If your application remains incomplete after such time and cannot be submitted for analysis, due to missing information, documents or other requirements, the application will be returned to you without further notice or delay and the date of such filing will not be considered.

The filing date of the application to SODEC determines the year in which you can claim your tax credit from Revenu Québec. Consequently, it is the new filing date that SODEC is to consider, provided that the application has been deemed complete under the Act respecting the sectorial parameters of certain fiscal measures (CQLR, P-5.1, Chapter III, Division I, Section 9-10).

I hereby declare and warrant that all the information and documents submitted for the purposes of this application are accurate, truthful and complete.
